Dear Sir:

In accordance with our telephone conversation of this morning, I am enclosing a small descriptive circular, a coin dealers' list of names, and an application card for Associate membership in the American Numismatic Society. The annual dues are five dollars in return for which several monographs are mailed to members during the year. A list of this series is enclosed. Beside this there is available a comprehensive library on numismatics, and our collections can be seen and studied. We are glad to be of any possible assistance.

Should you decide to join the Society, it is customary that the applicant supply the names of two people to whom we can apply for references. In any event, we should be glad to have you visit our Museum.

Very sincerely yours,

Curator.
